Wheatland Rural Electric Association is a member-owned cooperative serving southeast Wyoming. The Association has 20 employees serving approximately 4,000 meters over 1,800 miles of distribution line.

The Association's headquarters is in Wheatland, Wyoming.

Wheatland is in southeast Wyoming 65 miles north of Cheyenne on I-25. There is an abundance of hunting, fishing, and boating along with golfing and other outside activities. In addition, medical facilities, doctors, dentists, optometrists, and veterinarians make the community self-contained.

Wheatland Rural Electric Association, an Equal Opportunity Employer, offers an excellent retirement plan through NRECA, and a competitive wage/benefit package commensurate with qualifications.
